He made no attempt to conceal the receipt of money nor did he think what he did dishonorable. According to his recollection he did not receive over $1,000 from all his surveying contracts. He was asked whether he told Dr. Reed in April, 1875, that the President had the evidence of his interest in such contracts and he replied he did not recollect. Being closely questioned he said according to his recollection the evidence was shown to him by General Babcock at the White House. He never had a talk with the President about the matter.

Ex-Attorney General Ackerman to be Required to Testify.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—The committee on expenditures in the department of justice decided to require an answer of ex Attorney General Ackerman to the question as to whether he had consulted with the President before paying money over to Davenport. Ackerman put in a protest against answering on the ground that it was both illegal and was prohibited by statute that such communications with the Executive should be made public. He then testified to conversations similar to those narrated by ex-Attorney General Williams with the President.

CONGRESSIONAL.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—Sherman, from the committee on finance, reported with amendments, the concurrent resolution to secure uniformity in gold coin, moneys and accounts between the United States and Great Britain, placed on the calendar.

The Senate, after discussion, indefinitely postponed the bill appropriating $15,000 to survey the Austin and Polaramps Pacific railroad route.

After the expiration of the morning hour the Senate, by a vote of four years to four nays, refused to recede from the amendments of the Senate to the consular and diplomatic appropriation bill, and, on motion of Sargent, it was ordered that the Senate insist on its amendments and ask for a committee of conference. The chair appointed as such committee, Sargent, Frelinghuysen and Withers.

The Senate then resumed consideration of the bill to amend the laws relating to the legal tender of silver coin, and Jones resumed his argument.

House.

WASHINGTON, April 24.—The District of Columbia tax bill with amendment providing a tax of 1½ per cent. on all property, real and personal, was passed.

Lawrence, from the Judiciary Committee, submitted a report in relation to the Pacific Railroad, proposing a bill to require them to create a sinking fund to pay at maturity the principal and interest of the subsidy bonds issued to them by the Government. It embraces a discussion of the legal right of Congress to require this sinking fund and the necessity and justice of it. It is very full and elaborate. Ordered printed and recommitted.

The House then went into committee of the whole, Cox in the chair, on the legislative and executive appropriation bill, resuming it where provision is made for mints. Piper moved to amend the item for the San Francisco mint by increasing the appropriation for wages from $225,000 to $270,000.

Randall moved to amend the amendment by providing that the rate of wages paid in San Francisco mint shall not exceed those paid at Philadelphia mint by more than 25 per cent., allowing 15 per cent. for the difference between paper and gold and 10 per cent for the difference in cost of living. He remarked that the post office department made no difference between the compensation at San Francisco and other cities. He also compared wages and cost of living in San Francisco and Philadelphia.

Piper protested against a comparison between San Francisco, where men live and let live and Philadelphia, where they try to get everything and give nothing. [Loud laughter]. Gentlemen should not compare the Empress of the Pacific ocean with that old city on a mud creek—an over populated manufacturing country village. [Continued laughter].

Randall repelled the remark as to Philadelphia, and reminded Piper that if it was a village on the Delaware, it was a village containing 140,000 dwelling houses, more houses than the cities of New York, Brooklyn and San Francisco combined, with a population of 817,000, 200,000 of whom were engaged in prosperous times in manufacturing, with 10,000 manufacturing establishments. He was not in favor of cutting down the pay of skilled mechanics or employes anywhere. He believed the director of the mint in Philadelphia had unwarrantedly cut down wages there. He could not see, however, why mechanics at San Francisco should get more than at Philadelphia with that labor drained from the East, especially from Philadelphia.

Page sustained Piper's amendment, and in response to the comparison made by Randall when the subject was last under discussion, of the large number of pieces coined at the Philadelphia mint, remarked that most of them were five cent coin nickel pieces, which requires no more skill than the casting of bullets.

Kelley argued that all money appropriated for coining gold was mere waste—a mere gratuity to the politicians who lived in cities where these mints were. The coinage of gold between 1819 and 1850 amounted to $54,000,000. Where was it now? It had all gone abroad as merchandise.

Piper—To pay interest on the national debt.

Kelley, continuing—It would have paid every dollar that it has paid and earned thousands more if that gold had gone abroad in minted bars with weight and fineness stamped on each bar. To reduce the bars to coins was to waste part of the gold, to use it up in paying die sinkers and to lose the cost of machinery and fuel. That was equally true of silver, of which there had been coined $133,000,443 since 1821. Where were all these metals? They will be found only in the British sovereign, in the French louis and German mark. There was not a million of it all in American coin. When their coin arrived in foreign countries it was sent to a bank and thence to a mint, and there put in the melting pot. Why should the government go on wasting gold, wasting silver, wasting fuel and wasting labor, in order to reduce the sum total of exports of gold and silver? He exhibited a silver dime coined at San Francisco, and regretted when he contemplated it that San Francisco was an American city, for he had rather that this thing (holding it up contemptuously) had been coined in China or Japan. The woman had no face, the liberty cap looked like a slouched night cap (laughter); the pole on which it rested appeared before the cap got up to it; the cross bars showed that the die in which it had been stamped had never been smoothed, and the s, which marked it as coming from San Francisco, might be mistaken for the figure 8, or a German might take it for a pretzel. Old coins, antedating the Christian era, which were collected in the museum of Philadelphia, where elegant specimens of die sinking and good coinage compared with this work from the city of San Francisco, which so overtopped that little village on the Delaware 160 miles from the ocean. God forbid that such work thus be turned out by any Philadelphia mechanic. [Laughter.] Was the government to go on coining money at an expense nearly a million dollars a year, where the reduction of gold to bars stamped by the mint as to weight and fineness would answer all purposes and would continue to answer them until, by the laws of trade the tide turned in favor of the United States, when it might be hoped that enough gold would be returned to form a part of the circulating medium. The question was taken on Piper's amendment and was rejected. The amendment offered by Randall was agreed to.

Piper then moved to increase the appropriation of material for San Francisco from $75,000 to $140,000. He held up to the contempt of the world the ten cent paper pieces and asked whether that was not a nice thing for a gentleman to carry in his pocket. It was so dirty, he said, that it soiled even his hands, and he was not over fastidious. The gentleman (Kelley) had spoken of the cost of gold and silver coinage but he had not said a word about the vast amount expended in printing the rag idols which that gentleman worshipped so religiously. The printing of paper money had cost one way or another with the stealings taken in a thousand ways, millions of dollars. The chairman of the appropriation committee had suddenly grown very economical. It was not more than a year ago since that gentleman had voted out of the treasury, not prospectively, but retrospectively, money into his own pocket.

Randall suggested that whenever the gentleman from California, or any other gentleman wanted to abuse him he ought not to select the floor of the House for that purpose, for he did not think either the House or the country took any interest in the matter.

Piper's amendment was lost.

The proposition to increase the appropriations for the mints at Carson City Nev., and Denver, Col., was made and advocated by Woodburn, of Nevada and Patterson of California, but it was rejected.

In speaking in support of the proposition Woodburn referred to the fact that the Carson City mint was within twelve miles of the richest mines in the world while the Philadelphia mint was not within 3,000 miles of a silver or gold mine. A mint there was just as proper as a sawmill or a prairie.

O'Brien moved to insert an item of $11,000 to carry on the assay office in the joint building at New Orleans. After a long discussion, in which the amendment was opposed by Randall and Holman, it was adopted.

Davis, of North Carolina, moved to insert an item of $14,000 for the mint at Charlotte N. C. Another long discussion against the same ensued. The amendment was adopted.

On motion of Bennett, an item of $7,000 was also inserted for the assay office at Boise City.

The question of the compensation of territorial judges fixed in the bill at $2,500 gave rise to a discussion, most of the speeches being against the utter inadequacy of this compensation. Cannon illustrated it by the statement that the territorial legislature of Utah made an appropriation to increase the compensation of U. S. judges who acted there in a dual capacity.

Hoar expressed his astonishment at Cannon's statement and intimated that a federal judge who received compensation from any outside sources deserved impeachment.

The consideration was interrupted to allow Lord, chairman of the impeachment managers, to present the rejoinder to the demurrer filed by Belknap. The paper was read and as to the effect that the House in the name of its members and of all the people of the United States says that the first replication to the plea of Belknap to the articles of impeachment and matters therein contained, in matter and form is sufficient in law for the House to maintain its articles of impeachment, and that the Senate as a court of impeachment has jurisdiction to hear and determine the same and that as Belknap has not answered such articles of impeachment, or in any manner denied the same, the House of Representatives prays judgment thereon according to law.

As to the first and second sub divisions of the rejoinder to the second replication of the House to the plea of the defendant wherein the defendant demands trial according to law the House in behalf of itself and of all the people of the United States does the like, and as to the third, fourth, fifth and sixth sub divisions of the rejoinder, the House asserts it ought not to be barred from having and maintaining articles of impeachment against the defendant, because it denies every argument in such rejoinder which denies or traverses the acts or interests charged against the defendant, and it reaffirms the truth of the latter. Therefore, the House of Representatives prays for judgment according to law. The paper was approved by the House, and the clerk was ordered to leave it with the secretary of the Senate.

Consideration of the legislative appropriation bill was then resumed, the question being on the amendment to increase the compensation of Territorial judges from $2,500 to $3,000. As there was no quorum voting it was agreed that the amendment should be offered in the House and voted on.

Hoar offered an amendment forbidding Territorial judges to accept any compensation, except that provided by Congress.

Steele opposed the amendment as one which would drive every judge in the Territories to resign. The amendment was agreed to.

German Mining Officials to Visit Our Mines.

BERLIN, April 24.—It is announced that the committee of mining officials, which is going to Philadelphia on behalf of the Prussian government, will be divided into two parties. One will visit the mining districts of Montana, the Rocky Mountains, Idaho and California, returning from San Francisco by way of Nevada, Utah and Colorado. The other party will remain east of the Mississippi, and visit the different parts of Pennsylvania and Illinois.

English Crop Prospects.

LONDON, April 24.—The Mark Lane Express says the temperature during the week, although low, recovered from unusual depression previously noticed and vegetation has recovered from its temporary shock. In spite of improvement in the aspect of the country after the brief period of sunshine, the condition of land is still very backward for this time of year. In the most favored localities autumn sown crops although backward make a fair show, and appear not to have suffered so much as was thought probable. The wheat plant is somewhat thin and sickly on heavy lands, but with the warm May weather will doubtless make fair progress, although heavy crops are hardly to be expected. The deficiency of the acreage under wheat this year, while no doubt attributable in some measure to bad seedtime, and also to the improbability of the farmers forces being able to cultivate the crop remuneratively, is also due to the low prices and rapid transit of wheat from India which render competition more severe. The heavy shipments of wheat from Calcutta have formed a very marked feature in trade this season, and the facility with which this class of grain can be sold shows that to the mill it must possess grinding qualities of no mean order. Add to this the fact that prices range little over 45 shillings per quarter and it must be patent that with the enormous resources of land and cheap labor in India the prospect of selling English wheat at an average of fifty shillings per quarter is rendered rather dubious. Now that such facilities are offered for the transit of wheat the grain from America and India is almost entirely neglected, and the influence thus brought to bear on the course of prices is a matter for careful consideration. As the same quality of Calcutta wheat has recently been taken for the continent, it is plain that the millers there begin to appreciate the article and the extension of English trade in this direction may possibly be looked for. The course of trade has undergone little change since our last weekly report, and Easter holidays have rendered transactions somewhat limited. Wheat has steadily maintained its late prices, but there has been no appearance of improvement except for fine wheat qualities, which have been occasionally a little dearer.

House of Commons.

LONDON, April 24.—Disraeli, in the House of Commons to night, gave Fawcett no encouragement on the latter's motion for an address to the Queen, praying her not to accept the title of Empress. Fawcett gave notice of a more stringent motion, amounting to a vote of censure.

Conference at St. Petersburg.

A dispatch from St. Petersburg says Prince Gortschakoff convoked the representatives of the three great powers because the Turkish cabinet had resolved on Friday to invade Montenegro by way of Scuttari.

Better News from Constantinople.

The news from Constantinople is again better, moderate counsels prevailing. A renewal of negotiations is being pressed for accommodation and prolongation of armistice and the revictualing of Niesic. Conferences with insurgent chiefs are going on. The Prince of Montenegro denies that Montenegro took part in the recent engagement.

Prussia's Fleet to be Strengthened.

A dispatch from Berlin says it is stated that the government is going to reinforce its Mediterranean squadron.

War Threatened.

A telegram from Athens says the Porte is hesitating on the question of declaring war against Montenegro. The war party was stormy in the cabinet. Russia strongly objects. The Porte has asked Egypt for auxiliary troops, so that she can set free the Turkish garrisons of towns in Asia for service elsewhere. Ten thousand Egyptians are to occupy these places. The troops have not yet assembled at Scutari. Albania is ready for hostilities. Great agitation and alarm prevails in Constantinople.

Deputation from Barbadoes.

Fears of European War Groundless.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 24.—The Official Journal to day says the fears entertained for the peace of Europe are groundless. The Great Powers are acting in concert and their unanimity is strengthened. When it was recently ascertained that the Ottoman ministry had decided to invade Montenegro, Russia immediately invited the Powers to furnish their representatives with identical instructions for the purpose of dissuading the Porte from taking the offensive. Germany, Austria, France and Italy have already acquiesced and there is every reason to expect that England in this most dangerous crisis will acquiesce also. Already advices from Constantinople are more favorable. The Sultan has instructed his Foreign Minister emphatically to disavow any aggressive intention and to give assurance that the military movements in Albania are only defensive.

The body of engineer Cady was buried beneath the debris and has not been recovered. Van Houghton, fireman, was also killed. No other lives were lost. It is supposed that the engineer was asleep and did not observe that the signals were up and the bridge open.

PACIFIC COAST NEWS.

CALIFORNIA.

Dom Pedro Objects to a Military Reception.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 25.—A dispatch was received from Stockton to-day requesting Warren Leland to reserve seats at the pavilion to-night for Dom Pedro and party.

Dom Pedro has telegraphed to the Brazilian consul in this city that he is traveling as a private citizen, and does not desire a military reception or demonstration of any kind upon his arrival in San Francisco. He will arrive to-morrow evening and go directly to the Palace Hotel, where rooms have been engaged for him.

Dom Pedro and party arrived this evening. At Pleasanton, 40 miles from the city, his car was detached from the train, put behind another engine and rushed over the road half an hour ahead of the overland train. The object was to avoid any demonstration on his arrival, and it was a perfect success. The party passed through Oakland without attracting attention, crossed the bay and arriving at the wharf took carriages to the Palace hotel, where they entered without half a dozen people knowing they had arrived. On the arrival of the regular train at Oakland a great crowd was in attendance, with bands playing and colors flying, while Dom Pedro was already ensconced in his apartments at the Palace. Seats had been engaged by telegraph for the party at the Mechanic's pavilion to-night to hear Gilmore's orchestra.

On the arrival of the train at Sacramento, Dom Pedro and party hastily examined the workshops of the Central Pacific, expressing regret at the briefness of their inspection. The Imperial party will remain in the city four or five days when they will go to other points of interest.

Dom Pedro attended Gilmore's concert at the Pavilion, when no particular demonstration occurred. He will be serenaded at a later hour at the Palace Hotel.

Denial that the S. F. Primaries were Run by the Custom House.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 24.—The custom house officials deny that the recent Republican primary was run by the custom house brigade, alleging that with one exception the employes of that department took no part in the election.

Bonanza Stocks Firm.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 24.—The interview with J. C. Flood, published in the Stock Report to-day, seems to have had a somewhat reassuring effect as regards the Bonanza stocks, as although between the boards the bears made a vigorous onslaught on them, but few shares changed hands at bona fide sales at reduced rates, and there appears to be a disposition to hold them for better prices. There is no doubt that the recent rumors that have been circulated have had the effect to create considerable distrust as to the condition of those mines among outsiders, which has shown itself in a general disposition to stand from under. Flood's emphatic endorsement has, however, done considerable to counteract that feeling.

The Chronicle's Reply to Flood.

In reply to the statement of J. C. Flood relative to the bonanza mines, the Chronicle this morning publishes an interview with J. R. Keene, a well known stock operator, who alleges the ore body in the Consolidated Virginia mine is impoverished by working and deteriorating in width and quality as it descends. He also claims that Flood has been selling Con. Va and California when he could do so without breaking the market, while advising his friends to hold on. He admits a bad feeling between himself and Flood, and says the latter hates him because he assisted to rehabilitate the Bank of California. He declares that among the causes of its failure, outside of the irregularities in its management, was the lock-up of coin by Flood, who wished to break the bank and build up the Nevada Bank on its ruins. He admits that the present issue is a question of veracity between Flood and himself.

J. C. Fair denies Keene's Charges.

The Stock Report to day credits J. C. Fair with an emphatic denial of Jim Keene's charges concerning the condition of the Consolidated Virginia mine.

Anti-Coolie Club.

The board of supervisors adjourned without action to night, no quorum being present. Seventh ward anti Coolie club met this evening and organized.

Ex-Gov. Pesquiera Expected.

Pesquiera, ex governor of Sonora, is expected to arrive by the steamer Newbern, now due from Guaymas, on his way to New York. Pesquiera was ousted from the control of the government of Sonora by the recent revolution and it is whispered his visit has some political significance.

Races at Driving Park.

SAN JOSE, April 24.—The spring meeting opened this afternoon at Driving Park, with a fair attendance. The first race on the programme was a three-year old colt race. There were five entries, but only two started—John Hall's bay filly Elizabeth Tilton, and Theo Winters' bay filly Mollie McCarthy. The latter won the two first heats and money, $200. Time—1:48½ and 1:51. The day's sport ended with a match race between Ira Dubois' Frank, pacer, and John Hines' mare Amanda, trotter, for $100. Frank got away with the first two heats and coin. Time, 2:50 and 2:51. The programme for to-morrow is a pacing race, three in five, for $200. Closed with the following entries. Green enters Gray Dick, Rayners, Jerry; Burdette, Hoosier Dick, Hinds, Schonclin, to wagon. A running race, half mile and repeat, for $50, Gus enters Sallie Hart; Clark, Monkey; Appleby, O'Neal; Ward, Gray Dick.

Pinney's Plunder.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 25.—It is now ascertained that before Pinney, the naval defaulter, left here, he placed a large sum of money in charge of a friend, who was to forward it to him, when he had reached his destination, wherever that might be, which accounts for the statement of the woman, Georgie Costar, that he only had $10,000 with him on board ship.

Discharge of Attachment Lien Demanded.

The Pacific Mail Company yesterday applied in the Fourth District Court for a discharge of the attachment on the coal and stores of the steamer City of New York. The court ordered the company to file a bond of $30,000 when the attachment will be discharged. The bond is not yet filed.

Republican Delegates on their way to the Convention.

A number of delegates to the Republican State Convention are in town on their way to Sacramento to attend the convention to-morrow.

Fatally Wounded.

About half past five this morning Edward Farrell shot and fatally wounded a man named McDevitt in a lodging house, No. 428 Broadway. McDevitt, who lives with his wife in the same house, became jealous of his wife and Farrell, went to the latter's room, accompanied by his wife, who sought to restrain him, burst open the door and entered the room with an intention of attacking Farrell, who received him with a shot from a Navy revolver, putting the ball through his lungs. Farrell and Mrs. McDevitt were lodged in the station house and McDevitt taken to his room for medical assistance.

Hoist with their Own Petard.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 25.—The new fish bill, the passage of which by the legislature was, to a considerable extent, owing to the efforts of the Italian fishermen, headed by Capt. Carson and Celeso Moreno, seems to have developed a boomerang property, which causes it to recoil on the heads of its projectors, owing to the fact that the law requires the meshes of the nets to be not less than an inch and a half square. The Italian fishermen on the bay, who have recently been so active in procuring the arrest of Chinese fishermen, now complain that it is impossible to supply the city markets with smelt, tom cod, herring and other small fish without using nets with smaller meshes. This they have attempted, and in consequence the harbor police are hunting them with a view of arrest and prosecution. The fishermen propose to club together and raise money to stand a test suit, and see if some modification of the law cannot be obtained. In the mean time Captain Celso Moreno, whose exertion have brought about this state of affairs, has fallen from his position in the affections of his countrymen, who say freely that his presence on Washington street wharf would be attended with disagreeable consequences to himself. In consequence of this it is reported that the captain is making himself studiously inconspicuous.

San Francisco Water Rates.

The Board of Commissioners to fix water rates held an important meeting this evening. The report of the committee appointed to confer with Charles Webb Howard, President of Spring Valley Water Company, was submitted accompanied by a letter from Mr Howard, claiming in brief that the Spring Valley Water Company was a private corporation that any attempt on the part of the Board to fix the rates to be charged by them would be resisted by the company as an attempt to convert private property to public uses without compensation, and saying that while he would be glad to furnish the members of the committee, or any respectable party, with information concerning the working of the company, he declined to furnish them data on which to base an attack upon the interests of the company. After some discussion, it was resolved to go on and fix the rates in committee of the whole, basing them on the market value of the stock, with an allowance of 10 per cent. per annum for dividends, and if the company resist the matter will be brought into the courts.

California Republican Convention.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 25.—A dispatch from Sacramento says the general feeling among the delegates in the Republican State Convention is to send a delegation to Cincinnati uninstructed, to act for the best interests of the party. Delegates individually express preference for Bristow or Blaine, and a disposition to ignore the federal ring.

Another Raid on Campo Contemplated.

SAN DIEGO, April 25.—A dispatch was received this morning from the sergeant commanding the guard at Campo, stating that reliable information had been received from Tecarte valley that Chavez and Cruz Lopez were organizing a band near there, contemplating another raid on Campo. There are about a dozen of them, armed with Henry rifles and revolvers. Col. Bernard, commanding this post, immediately sent Lieut. Ward, with eighteen men of the 1st Cavalry, to reinforce the guard.

SAN DIEGO, April 25.—A dispatch from Campo says: A man from Jacumbe, about 20 miles from here, reports another band of eight Mexicans coming from Sonora, avoiding the stage road. They camped at a spring near Jacumbe last night. They found two Indians at the spring and killed one; the other escaped. All quiet at 8 o'clock. Pickets out.

Married by Telegraph.

Last evening at 9 o'clock, W. H. Story, operator in the signal service corps at Camp Grant was married to Miss Carrie Choate, daughter of D. J. Choate, recently appointed postmaster of this city. The parties were at Camp Grant while the officiating clergyman was in San Diego, the ceremony being performed by telegraph in the presence of a large party of friends in the offices at either end of the line. After the ceremony numerous congratulatory messages passed between the parties and the intermediate telegraph offices on the line were thronged with visitors to witness the novelty.

Parkam Wall Discharged.

MARYSVILLE, April 25.—Parkam Wall, held to answer the crime of incest had his preliminary examination to-day in Justice Howser's court and was discharged. His daughter denied all she had heretofore charged against him.

Raid on the Gamblers.

SACRAMENTO, April 25.—The grand jury reported 21 true bills against persons charged with gambling. This report causes quite a commotion among the sporting fraternity, and will be the means of closing at least a few of the small thieving games that have heretofore been run so openly in this city, although doubtless the matter will then be allowed to drop. The sheriff was out with a posse this forenoon trying to find the Chinese gamblers who had been indicted by the grand jury, and for whom bench warrants were issued. But the houses were all closed, and the Celestial tiger-fighters nowhere to be found.

Driving Park Races.

SAN JOSE, April 25.—The second day's races at Driving Park this afternoon, drew out a much larger attendance than usual. There was only a pacing match, three in five, for $250. The winner was Burdett's Hoosier Dick; time 2:34, 2:28¼, 2:36¼, 2:38, 2:31. The sport to-morrow is likely to be very lively.

Stage Robbery.

OROVILLE, April 25.—The Laporte stage was stopped six miles above this place to-day by one man, and robbed of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s box. The amount of treasure is not yet known. Five passengers were in the stage at the time.

OREGON.

A church organization of Universalists is to be organized at Albany.

A large band of horses and mules will soon start from Jackson county for Nevada.

John Love, of Harrisburg, has been adjudged insane and sent to the East Portland asylum.

The ninth anniversary of the foundation of the Baptist Church in Albany, will be celebrated by a fair and festival at the church, Thursday evening, May 4th.

Thomas Batty is out in a card in the Roseburg Banner declining to act as a member of the Democratic county central committee and denouncing the convention that appointed him.

Judge Sifers, of Josephine, proposes erecting a quartz mill in the region of Fort Lane, should prospects prove favorable, and we understand that he is now surveying the line of a ditch which will furnish water power for the same.

The Banner says four out of the six candidates for State Senators in Douglas county are in favor of dividing the county. There being two senators to elect in the county the anti-divisionists stand a good show to keep the county together.

The Esther Mining Company in Josephine county are extracting ore and hauling it to their mill on Grave creek, and will commence crushing in a few days. S. C. Shanks took out of his mining claim on Jordon gulch, a nice piece of gold, worth $17 50.

A correspondent of the Banner says the Democrats of Roseburg are justly indignant at the unprecedented and unjust treatment which they have received at the hands of the Douglas County Convention in being passed over in the selection of nominees for office.

Last Monday the Democracy of Benton county nominated the following ticket: For Representatives, G. B. Smith, J. T. Hughes, John Priest; for clerk, E. A. Milner; for sheriff, W. A. Wells; delegates to the State convention, J. S. Palmer, W. H. Goldson, D. R. Hodges and M. Shannon.

THE OREGONIAN AS A NEWSPAPER.

Complaint is made of Oregon rains. Old settlers have to say this season is more wet than usual, yet the stranger is weary of the apology. But we have a relief in the telegrams. Turn to the reports in the OREGONIAN of the 14th, and you find heavier storms on the 13th in the Mississippi valley and in the Middle and New England States. The railroad trains are stopped near Iowa City; snow blasts sweep the prairies of Kansas and Nebraska; Chicago's loss by the flooded streets and cellars is over $600,000, the levees on the lower Mississippi give way, and tens of thousands of acres are under water. Pennsylvania reports large damages from the sudden rise of streams. Three or four weeks ago we had an unusual storm even for the equinoctial. Those on the sea or sound, or who attempted to enter port, thought they had never known one so severe on this northwest coast. Old bar pilots and captains called it the worst of this winter and of any winter in their experience. Well, the old settlers—especially the farmers, whose plows are rusting in their sheds, and whose restive teams are champing in their stalls, and whose impatient boys are almost rebellious at the weather—feel like admitting that Oregon is losing caste for good farming weather. But a look over the telegrams of those days in the OREGONIAN will show the same sort of storms, only worse, in the West and in the East and in Europe. Missouri, New York and Massachusetts suffered large losses. The factory villages in and near Worcester, Massachusetts, were swept with the floods, and the labor of years destroyed in an hour. Germany, and the towns and cities and farms along the Danube, had not known such calamities by water for many years before. The flood along the Loire of last year threatened to be repeated in Middle Austria. All these facts come more in detail with the weekly journals that now begin to arrive from the East and from England. A friend in England writes to one in Portland: "We have never known such storms and floods and losses or perils of loss as during this winter and early spring." The papers are largely occupied with the story. Our faithful monitor, the OREGONIAN, gave the brief notice at the time as a sign that the storm god was abroad over continents and oceans at the same moment, and was not making a special charge on poor Oregon to harm the immigrants, or furnish fresh items for the San Francisco journals to make points against the northwest coast or arguments for railroad runners with which to divert settlers to California. A due study of the meteorological reports, daily furnished this paper from the signal corps office, will convince the thoughtful that in every great storm which sweeps the belt of the temperate regions around the world, our northwest coast suffers the least. The contour of our mountain ranges forms a better protection than that of northwestern and central Europe. Great Britain is more exposed than its analogue, Washington Territory, or British Columbia. France is less protected from storms that rise on the Atlantic Ocean than its analogue Oregon is from storms which rise on the Pacific Ocean. When the signal stations shall be multiplied on the promontories along our coast from Cape Flattery to Mendocino and the Heads at the entrance of San Francisco Bay, and on some of the lofty peaks on this coast and Cascades and Olympic ranges, and put in telegraphic connection with the central office in our commercial cities, and with our transcontinental stations, and when daily bulletins shall be put up for the use of commerce on sea and land for the mariner, the merchant and the farmer alike, we shall not only have a good record as compared with other regions, but we shall know when to keep in port and when to send our ships and goods to sea; when to plow and sow and reap; when to seek shelter and guard against so-called sudden changes, chilly rains, or sultry typhoid, malarious periods. To the intelligent meteorologist, with his signal instruments in hand, the changes of the seasons and the incidents of the weather, amount to more than probability. The signs are certain. He who watches the slow, or notes the quick back move of the Aneroid barometer, or the fall of the mercury, knows that he is within the circuit of a storm, whether on sea or land. The wind of one locality may not assure the mariner whether he is on its inner or outer edge, or whether its centre is receding or coming nearer. The writer was in the storm of March 24th to the 29th, on Puget Sound, near the narrow wind and tide tunnel which forms the Straits De Fuca. On the 26th the index of the Aneroid moved forward, showing fair, but that night it went back more than before, and the wind began to lash the sea. Capt. Munroe ran our little steamer into San Juan harbor, under the lea of the island, where we lay pulling the anchor, 76 hours. It was evident that the center of the storm had been approaching all the time. The fall of the 26th was deceptive. Connection with a signal office 200 miles south would have informed us, or the shipping in Port Townsend, Esquimalt and Victoria of the danger. Some of these ventured out, but were obliged to put back. The California crossed from Esquimalt we learned, but it was a rough trip for her, even under that veteran seaman, Capt. Hayes. Two lumber ships left Port Townsend on the 29th, but the waves swept their decks, making retreat the best for them. They went out as we came in on the 30th. The Gussie Telfair, we were told, essayed to go to sea from Neah Bay, but made no headway and came back. Were all these points in connection with a signal office at Port Townsend, Portland, Astoria, Cape Disappointment, Cape Mendocino and San Francisco, and with some other mountain peaks, our merchant marine would have a valid reason for keeping in port or leaving port much better than the local signs known to the weather wise, more sure than the best wisdom of the most experienced captains. Our insurance policies would be at lower rates, our losses of property and person would show a large decrease, while the business would show a large annual increase. We commend this subject to the care of the OREGONIAN and its numerous readers, and to the attention of our delegates in Congress. Increase the signal corps stations on the Pacific coast for the sake of commerce; increase them for the sake of the immigration westward.

The century now closing has been marked by the steady tramp of the American colonist westward. He has met new conditions and encountered new climates. He has gained much by the change. He has needlessly suffered by his ignorance. The exact daily study of the climates of the continent is his protection. It has been commenced at the East but the East has less need and no right to sequester it to herself because forsooth she is the richest and most populous. Our domain touches both oceans. For the next half century at least the tides of population will swell towards the Pacific and roll up our valleys and along our shores. To conserve the health and enterprises of these coming millions from the first outland and sea, by the lessons drawn from the exact physical science of the present age, seems to me at once the wisdom of the statesmen and the duty of the government.

It is to the press we must look to extend almost every idea. To none in Oregon have we owed so much during the last 25 years as to the OREGONIAN.

Issued by Hon. T. J. Dryer first, in December, 1850, and published for ten years by his energy and skill during those years of mining excitement, in which land titles, politics, local schemes and personal ambitions kept society in a ferment, was a task at once creditable to his head and honorable to his patriotism as a pioneer journalist. Those of us who have read this paper from the beginning accord to him in his declining years and poor health the meed of praise, with the hope that he and his daughter and grandchildren may long be spared and richly rewarded.

To the present publisher, H. L. Pittock, Esq., who began, a lad, work at the case on the OREGONIAN in 1853, and has continued ever since, becoming the purchaser in 1860, amid all the competition and close figuring to give the people of Oregon and the coast, at first weekly, then daily, and, as quick as the lines were up, telegraphic news, without an omission, we owe a tribute of praise, which cannot be estimated without a history of the events of these eventful years. We recall the Indian war times, the Kansas border troubles, shadows forecasting the civil war, the bloody strife for the preservation of the Union, the sabered triumphs of the people, the temperate words needed to allay the storms of passion, the later stimulus to railroad and other enterprises. All these need to be sketched by a fair mind as a part of our Centennial history. Journalism has but just begun to reveal its power, and its possibilities of improvement, the next century will unfold its majesty. When personal and local things shall be put in harmony with all that is great and true and right, we may believe that all men will give it due honor. In the hope that some one will look over the files of the OREGONIAN for a quarter century, and collate the salient points of its history and that of the people which it has incidentally chronicled so faithfully during this our formative and eventful period, I have given these few items.

KALAMA, W. T., April 15, 1876.

LETTER FROM TILLAMOOK.

TILLAMOOK, April 19, 1876.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Before proceeding to fulfill the promise I made in my last communication, that I would endeavor to show an opening here for a steam saw-mill, etc., permit me to remark that judging from the number of letters I am in receipt of recently from non-residents of our State, the OREGONIAN must have a large circulation in different States as well as here in Oregon. Among the communications I have received is one from Virginia, Bates county, Missouri, making inquiries relative to Tillamook county, which I answered. The writer commences his letter as follows: "Perceiving a letter under date of March 22d in the OREGONIAN, signed Tillamook, allow me to ask," etc. If the OREGONIAN had a still wider circulation in the Western States, it would be productive of an incalculable benefit to Oregon.

In a former communication I stated that Tillamook Bay is a sheet of water about fifteen miles in length, and an average of three miles in width, and accessible to vessels drawing 13 feet of water; the entrance straight and good and the channel being about three-fourths of a mile in width. This last statement is derived from a statement of Capt. J. J. Gilbert of the United States coast survey.

Tillamook bay has five rivers emptying into it. Some of these rivers are profusely covered with the finest timber on the continent, which, in a short time, will form a lucrative business in this country. There are three good sites for a sawmill ... on the margin of the bay, where, by the expenditure of a small amount of money in piling, a wharf could be constructed, to which lumber could be run from a mill to a ... A-lying alongside the wharf. Vessels drawing 15 feet could load from the wharf. Contracts could be entered into with responsible parties to stock a saw-mill capable of turning out fifteen or twenty thousand feet of lumber daily, with spruce, fir, hemlock or alder logs for ... at $4 per thousand feet delivered at the mill, and 50 per cent., if not more of the cost of these logs could be paid for in merchandise at a profit of from 33⅓ to 50 per cent.; for Tillamook county purchases annually about $60,000 of various articles of merchandise. At either of the mill sites I have mentioned, there is a proper place to keep a boom of logs in safety in any storm.

We have as good mechanics and laboring men, and as many of them, according to our population, as can be found in Oregon: such as millwrights, ship and boat builders, blacksmiths, machinists, (and a ...) cabinet makers, coopers, axmen, loggers and lumbermen, teamsters, woodmen, and mill sawyers, all of whom are possessed of energy and are willing to put their labor and skill against capital to open up and develop the resources of Tillamook county. And until we have a sawmill of the class and capacity I have mentioned, and a vessel of a carrying capacity of 150 or 200 tons to transport our lumber to the San Francisco market, just so long will our timber resources remain undeveloped. Portland affords us a good market for all our products except lumber and stave bolts, and for a market for these we must seek one by a direct communication with San Francisco. Therefore the great desideratum with us is capital, combined with energy and business capacity, and then in a few years Tillamook county would rank with Coos county. The wealth of Coos county lies in her timber and coal fields. As for timber, we have as much, with the exception of white cedar, as Coos has; and as regards agricultural and grazing lands, we have five acres to Coos county's one; and as for coal, there is no doubt as to the existence of large deposits which only require capital to develop.

When Messrs. A. M. Simpson, Capt. Robert Simpson and H. H. Luse first took hold of Coos Bay to develop it, it was no further advanced than Tillamook is now. Look at Coos Bay to-day. There is a fleet of sail and steam vessels plying between the Bay and San Francisco numbering about 30, exclusively engaged in transporting coal and lumber. Want of space and time preclude more at present.

NEVADA.

Dom Pedro.

WINNEMUCCA, April 24.—The Emperor of Brazil arrived here at 4 o'clock this evening. It was whispered among a few, previous to the arrival of the train, that the Emperor was desirous of visiting the Humboldt reduction works at this point, owned by Judge Bixby. It was for the purpose of complying with His Majesty's desire that, shortly after the train arrived, a special car was detached from the train and run down upon the side track to the reduction works preparatory to his car being disconnected from the regular train. The Emperor alighted, accompanied by his suite, and walked some distance down the track towards the works here. He was overtaken by the engine drawing his car and, boarding it, proceeded to the mill. He seemed much interested in this phase of man's ingenuity, and after a visit of 15 minutes, overlooking the different departments, he returned to join the train and proceeded on his way West. Hundreds of people assembled at the depot to catch a glimpse of His Majesty.

The ground has been staked off and the plans are being drawn for a fine brick hotel at Albany.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, APRIL 5, 1876

SOMETHING FOR THE CONVENTIONS TO REMEMBER.

To-day the conventions to select delegates to represent this county in the State Republican Convention will be held. The delegates sent up by the precincts are generally such men as can be relied upon to do honestly what they conceive to be their duty. Allusion has been made to the fact that the delegates appointed have been selected without respect to their former relations to the Republican party. Independent Republicans and straight-out Republicans are mixed together promiscuously. There has been an effort and we believe an effort in good faith on all hands to ignore in the State convention the differences among Republicans so far as this county is concerned and to co-operate together for the purpose of securing such action in the State convention as will be satisfactory to all Republicans. There is reason to hope this effort will not prove unavailing, and that the same spirit of conciliation which has manifestly controlled thus far in the preliminary steps in this county will be found to prevail among the delegates to the State convention from other parts of the State.

We trust both the county and State conventions will not deem it improper for us to call their attention to the fact that party fealty is no longer the absolute force in elections which it was a few years ago. Happily the circumstances that made party and country interchangeable terms in the minds of a vast proportion of the voters have passed away and the judgment of the citizen will be exercised now upon the particular circumstances of each case. This should admonish parties and conventions of the peril [illegible] themselves of nominating unworthy candidates or of pursuing any course calculated to offend the moral sense of the people. The masses of the people take so little interest in the primary steps where the real work of shaping the campaign is done that the tickets are formed mostly by the few who are called politicians. It is to be regretted that such is the case, for out of that very fact arises most of the causes of complaint. The citizens generally neglect to attend the primary meetings, and the interested politicians having no check upon them, manage the proceedings to suit themselves—often doubtless seeing no reason why it should not suit everybody as well—and then the people are forced to the choice between sustaining what they cannot approve on the one hand, and, on the other defeating candidates with whom, in general sentiments, they agree, by supporting those from whom they differ. This last remedy has become the more effective and convenient of late, in proportion to the decline of party spirit and the weakening of party allegiance, so that to-day the voter is accustomed to regard the conventions of his party as machinery, more or less useful in bringing candidates before the public, but whose determinations are subject to rejection if not approved by the moral sense of the people. The free ballot is thus becoming again what it was in the early days of the Republic, namely a real expression of the popular will concerning the merits of the men and matters directly submitted for decision. The mere fact of a party nomination is no longer regarded as a sufficient reason why a candidate should be supported by the members of the party whose convention has nominated him, not even by those members who participated in the primaries or in the convention. The privileges and obligations of citizenship are not strangled by any such fictions to-day. Let these considerations be borne in mind by the conventions, county and State, and there need be no difficulty in uniting all Republicans on the Presidential and Congressional candidates of the party, let them be forgotten or disregarded, and the citizen will prove when the final test comes how much dearer to him is free citizenship than partisan slavery.

SOME FRIENDLY SUGGESTIONS TO THE DEMOCRATIC STATE CONVENTION.

One of the notable events of the season will take place or begin to take place at Salem to-day. The Areopagus of the Oregon Democracy will convene at the City of Peace and proceed to whatever doth appertain unto the patriotic work of getting hold of the offices and the spoils thereof. Being kindly disposed toward the party of changeless principles and uncertain practices, and that kindly disposition being a thing so well understood by the chiefs of the party, who will doubtless sit in the Areopagus, we make bold to offer them a few words of advice under the head of good of the order.

1. Harmony being the strength of the Democratic organization, let the idea of harmonizing things be placed above all political principle, and let the platform of the party be such as may be read one way by one voter and another way by another voter. That is the traditional policy of the Democracy, and it has not, within a long series of years, been departed from without d[illegible] A platform composed of such indeterminate and meaningless phrases as the equitable adjustment juggle of 1870 is the only plat form that will not throw the Democracy into ruin.

2. On the question of the national currency great caution should be exercised. There should be no lack of censure and denunciation of the course of the Republican party on that subject. But care should be taken at the same time not to state clearly wherein that course is wrong or what policy the Democrats would pursue if put in power. [illegible] this is the point on which the Democracy are not agreed. Some glittering generalities about hard money would be safe in Oregon as the party of eternal principles for hard money here, while it is for rags in some other State. But when it comes to talking about resumption of specie payments the subject should be handled very gingerly, there being no certainty yet as to whether the National Convention will want any resumption.

The corruptions of Belknap and the rest of the Washington ring should be denounced in round patriotic and sonorous sentences such as by their very ponderosity would so far captivate the mind of the reader thereof as to make him forget that the mercenaries of Washington are, almost to a man, Democratic politicians who [illegible] into the Republican ranks after [illegible] might follow the change [illegible] expected in the natural course of [illegible] to go back to their first love whenever there is no longer profit to be got by Republican alliances.

[illegible] The Congressional investigations which have been so vigorously pushed wherever corruption could be traced to a Republican official so vigorously obstructed wherever there appeared danger of hurting a Democratic politician are a proper subject of congratulation, but this should be couched in such language as will not suggest the peculiar partisan bias by which the investigations seem to have been guided nor provoke unreasonable comment touching the practices of the Democratic officials in the days of the ascendancy of that party. If any corruption shall be found to have been practiced by Federal officials in this State no such reference should be made to those matters as would awaken in the minds of old Oregonians memories of the last days of Democratic rule when Bob Metcalfe who is absent but not forgotten and some others who are neither absent nor forgotten used to adorn official circles of Oregon society.

[illegible] The peculations of the State Department under the last Republican administration of our State government might, if treated with proper care, be made useful in the campaign; but extreme prudence should be exercised in drawing any resolution on the subject. Indeed it is very doubtful whether an attempt to incorporate them into the platform should be ventured upon. It would be very risky. The circumstances of that theft are so intimately associated with the suppression or withdrawal of the executions issued to recover the stolen money that any allusion to it might fire the train and cause an explosion that would knock several little things into pi—for instance the little job of running a straight Republican ticket in Jackson county in the interest of the Salem ring, and possibly the chances of the Secretary in that little game to be played in September, in which he fondly imagines a hand is to be dealt to him.

The foregoing are only a few suggestions which it appears to us might be of value to the Areopagus in its deliberations. They are not of course, to be considered as exhausting the subject but merely as indicating in a general way the course which a disinterested but friendly spectator thinks would be the safest and therefore wisest under all the peculiar circumstances of the case. We desire, further, to assure the members of the august assemblage of representatives of the party of eternal principles, that we are not at all dogmatic in our views of these matters, and shall not be offended if they pay no attention at all to our suggestions.

RETIREMENT OF GOV. CURRY FROM THE JOURNAL.

Ex-Governor Geo. L. Curry has retired from the editorship of the Evening Journal. In his valedictory which appeared in yesterday's edition he says:

My connection with the Journal ceases with this issue. I regret to be obliged to quit my editorial duties just at this time, but business of a different character requires my absence from the city for several weeks and my permanent attention thereafter. My relations with those concerned in publishing the Journal have always been and still are of the friendliest kind and I hope they are not otherwise with its patrons. In the brief period of my editorial service I have endeavored to discharge my obligations to the public to the best of my abilities and wishing the Journal a long continuance of its popularity and the full attainment of the high measure of success which it deserves, I retire from my position with an expression of my desire for the health and good fortune of all connected with the press of Oregon.

Gov. Curry is a graceful and fluent writer and he made the Journal a very acceptable paper indeed, while by his faithfulness and courtesy he has won the regard of those he leaves behind in taking leave of the pr[illegible]. May success attend him.

The largest land case ever passed on by the supreme court of the United States was decided on the 10th inst. It involved the title to 360,000 acres of lands in the Osage country. The controversy was between the settlers and the railway company having a grant through that section and the decision was in favor of the settlers. It occasioned very general rejoicing in that region.

We are in receipt of a private dispatch from Washington which says Blaine's manly statement before the House has literally squelched the scandal about him. At the close of his remarks there was general applause without distinction on account of party, and both Democrats and Republicans gathered round him and gave him their hearty congratulations.

Senator Jones has at last given utterance to his long promised speech on the silver question. It will be noticed that according to telegraphic reports whatever the soundness of its financial theories may be it is thought to display a wide and deep erudition, which will distinguish it from most of the speeches on finance.

There was a sharp debate in the House yesterday on certain proposed appropriations for the different mints. Kelley and Piper crossed swords and Randall got an unpleasant reminder of his vote in favor of back pay.

4,000 ACRES, IN QUANTITIES TO SUIT PURCHASERS.

230 ACRES DUE SOUTH AND ADJOINING the Railroad Depot at Salem, all under cultivation and all tillable for grain or vegetables.

040 Acres four miles southeast of Salem, on the railroad, with Mill creek running through it. This is the choicest farming land in Marion county, with fine springs, consisting in part of the old Rector donation claim, on which I raised the past year fifty bushels of wheat and three tons of timothy per acre. The first crop of oats ever raised on part of this land measured ninety four bushels per acre, grain weighed and ground chained by Mr. Alfred Stanton, of Salem.

2,700 Acres of prairie and light brush land, with timber for farming purposes, bounded by the Willamette River for four miles, beautiful lake on the east, boat landings all along the river, commencing four miles north of Salem—all choice grain land—the largest and most suitable body of land to be found in the Willamette Valley to be purchased by a colony. To be sold from $15 to $25 per acre. This land will all be immediately resurveyed and can be sold in larger or smaller parcels to suit purchasers. It can be subdivided to the best possible advantage, and I can offer any person or persons or colony of persons desiring to purchase homes in the best part of the Willamette Valley, near the city of Salem and within reach of the best social advantages, as well as most favorably located with respect to markets, greater advantages on more favorable terms than they can ever expect to realize again. THOMAS CROSS.

NO MORE BALDNESS!

MRS. S. LORD, AGENT FOR OREGON AND Washington for Mrs. Moore's Great Scientific HAIR PRODUCER, would announce to ladies and gentlemen who desire the personal adornment of a fine suit of hair that she has opened parlors for its express treatment. They are emphatically assured she possesses the skill to produce a full crop of hair on all stages of baldness. A few treatments will convince the most skeptical that this is no exaggeration. Weak, decaying and falling hair made strong, healthy and vigorous. No mineral or damaging substances used or disagreeable methods. On the contrary the treatment is pleasant and soothing, bringing the scalp rapidly into a natural, healthful tone and furnishing the proper elements to the bulbs and hair which is produced in a surprisingly short space of time. Hair guaranteed in all cases where the directions are faithfully followed. Ladies and gentlemen are invited to call at her Parlors and examine photographs of prominent men taken before and after treatment, which must remove skepticism. Most satisfactory proof furnished. Parlors No. 16 third floor First National Bank Building. First st., above Washington, Portland. Preparations sent to all parts of Oregon and Washington. ap6d_w

BODY FOUND AT LAST.—Some time last November Mr Chas Walker formerly a resident of Clackamas county but more recently from Klickitat, disappeared mysteriously near the Dalles, and all efforts to discover his whereabouts dead or alive proved fruitless. Walker at the time of his disappearance owned a farm in Clackamas. He came down on business to Portland and having transacted it started back to Klickitat. He left the Dalles with a horse team, crossed the river and camped near the Columbia. Walker was alone and during the night he disappeared. He was seen on the Columbia ... his horses and wagon were observed the notices of the owner. Search was instituted and continued for some days but it was of no avail. Weeks and months passed away and no tidings of the missing man and finally all hopes of ever recovering the body gave way to a settled conviction that Walker had been drowned, either by accident or intention. He was abandoned. Some months ago a body was found floating in the Columbia forty miles below this city. Long exposure to the action of the water had caused the flesh to waste away leaving nothing but the bones. It was thought at the time that the remains were Walker. The skeleton was brought up to this city and kept at the undertaker's for a long time for identification. Mrs Walker, the wife of the missing man, came down to Portland and inspected the remains but was of the opinion that they were not her husband. A few days ago a body was found near Brookfield fishery and on the person were found valuable papers which proved beyond all doubt that the remains were Walker's. After being in the water for ... and drifting over 150 miles it was at last recovered. The widow was notified of the fact and the remains ... Christian burial.

NO LIGHT, NO FIRE.—Several days ago ... Denny received a circular letter from Washington which stated that the appropriation made by Congress to defray the expenses of the postoffices of the country in the way of furnishing water, fuel, watchmen, firemen, etc. was exhausted. He was instructed to cut off the gas light supply, and to dispense with the services of the janitor watchman and fireman. Mr. Denny telegraphed to Washington for instructions in the matter, as the circular gave only a sort of general order. An answer has been received which confirms the circular ... with the exception of the janitor. "This person is allowed to remain, but none of the others, and the water and light is to be shut off until an appropriation is made." In view of this, however, that there would be no protection to the building from the vandalizing acts of the hoodlums, it has been deemed ... not to dispense with the services of the night watchman, and a strong effort will be made to induce the department to allow the services of that person on the ground of the ... As the deprivation of light would be a drawback to the postoffice department as well as a great inconvenience to the public, the Gas Company propose to furnish the article at their own risk and the bills will be paid by the government when the proper representations are made.

And yet the picnic season delayeth long its coming.

To-day the Democratic State Convention will meet at Salem.

The steamer Gussie Telfair sailed for the north last evening.

The warm humid air will start vegetation with a new impetus.

Webfoot clouds never get dry. More ... sered fullness yesterday.

There are 20? patients now confined in the asylum—156 males and ... females.

The steamer Ajax arrived safely at San Francisco yesterday from Portland.

Last evening's train carried to the capital a large number of delegates to attend the State convention.

The Amateur Musical Society will meet to-morrow (Thursday) evening for rehearsal instead of to-night.

Fifty-seventh anniversary of the organization of the first Odd Fellows lodge in the United States to-day.

The Grand Army boys are making vigorous preparations to observe Memorial Day with the usual beautiful ceremonies.

The steamer John L. Stephens reached here this morning at 1 o'clock from San Francisco with full freight and passenger list.

The funeral of the son of Bernard O'Hara who died of consumption last Sunday at Scat... was very numerously attended yesterday.

Chas Lawren... has been held to answer a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon on the person of Dr. W. L. Adams in the sum of $500.

Excavating will soon be completed at the corner of First and Alder streets and the ring of the trowel will shortly be heard in that portion of the city.

Mr P Stevens has been awarded the contract for constructing the new brick building of Alisky & Hegele, on Alder street between First and Second, for $5,850.

This is the latest:

Pity the poor passenger,
They've raised the fares on each street car;
Like the gold you pay with your trade dollar
Are the checks you get from the conductor.

The west side of Second street between Morrison and Yamhill presents now a demoralized aspect preparatory to the commencement of work on the new brick building. Soon the busy notes of improvement will be heard in that quarter. Wood for brick is the motto.

Yesterday we received, through our agent at Oakland, orders for three copies of the WEEKLY OREGONIAN to be sent for a year to friends in Virginia, Missouri and Nebraska. As many orders came from other offices. Now if every neighborhood in Oregon did as much to circulate the OREGONIAN in the East, what a vast amount of information would be given about our State and what an impetus it would give to immigration. Just think of it and act.

RIVER AND COAST IMPROVEMENTS.

A force of men are now engaged in making the necessary repairs to the light station at Point Adams.

Last winter during the high water the beacon situated on Sand Island was carried away. A new one will be constructed in the course of a month in place of the one washed away.

Owing to the recent high water operations have been suspended for some days along the channel of the Upper Willamette by the snag puller. At latest accounts the snag boat was lying at Corvallis waiting for the subsidence of the water. As soon as the stage of water will admit of the resuming of operations the snag puller will come down the river, removing obstructions at various points where necessary.

Next week the lighthouse tender Shubrick is expected to arrive here on her regular inspecting cruise. She will touch at Portland before proceeding along the northern coast, and will carry away spars, buoys, etc., which are to be located at Shoalwater bay and other points. Before returning to San Francisco the Shubrick will visit the various light stations where the required inspections will be made and the required supplies, etc., distributed. Col Wilson will accompany the inspecting officer on the cruise.

AMUSEMENTS.

THE CONCERT.—Prof Geo P Newell will be the recipient of a complimentary benefit at Masonic Hall this evening tendered him by his pupils and a number of his friends. An entertaining programme has been in active course of preparation and rehearsal for some time and will doubtless be rendered to the complete satisfaction of the audience. Among those who are announced to participate we observe the names of some of our best amateur musicians—vocal and instrumental. Prof. Newell, the recipient, enjoys the distinction of being one of the pioneer musicians on the Pacific coast. He has been extremely generous in tendering his professional services on occasions of charity concerts, etc., in times past and for such acts of kindness he deserves some recognition at the hands of this public. Reserved seats can be obtained at Gray's Music Store.

TIME TO ME

Time to me this truth hath taught,
'Tis a truth that's worth revealing,
More offend for want of thought,
Than from want of feeling

I mist e we would convey
There s a to e we should convey it
If we we but a word to say,
There s a time in which to say it.

Many a beauteous flower decays,
Though we tend it e er so much,
Something secret on it preys
Which no human aid can touch

So in many a loving breast
Lies some canker grief concealed
That if touched is more oppressed
Left unto itself—is healed!

Oft, unknowingly, the tongue
Touches on a chord so aching,
That a word or accent wrong
Pains the heart almost to breaking

Many a tear of wounded pride
Many a fault of human blindness,
Has been soothed, or turned aside
By a quiet voice of kindness.

Time to me this truth hath taught,
'Tis a truth that's worth revealing
More offend from want of thought,
Than from want of feeling

MARION COUNTY POLITICS

THE TWO TICKETS HOW THEY WERE MADE AND WHAT THEY WERE MADE OF—WONDERFUL WORKS OF WATKINDS

SALEM, April 22, 1876

To the Editor of the Oregonian

The two political conventions for Marion are things of the past, and the opposing tickets are in the field ready for the accustomed exercises There is the usual amount of satisfaction among those who succeeded and dissatisfaction among those who came out second best, while the majority of Republicans and Democrats seem to be inclined to make the best of what is done There was a marked difference between the conventions as respects their controlling animus, the Republicans being more than ordinarily imbued with a patriotic and reformatory spirit, partaking very largely of the broader and more elevated views everywhere presented to the party, while the working majority of the Democrats lapsed clear back to the ideas which have ever guided them in party discipline

Bill Watkinds, backed by the power of the penitentiary, carried his points so far as securing the nominations, and as of old, he declares and resolves that the man who does not endorse his work, which has been put up after the forms and usages of the party is no Democrat

He made short work of the thirteen bolters from the East Salem precinct, and it was really amusing to see these solid men of the capital city step down and out, carrying humbly their rights of judgment and conscience with them while Bill's fuddy face shows all over with the exultation of triumph Bill enjoys these things, and he never seems so much himself as when he is engaged in such contests No professor of physiognomy could detect the slightest glimmer of shame, sympathy, or remorse in his countenance then and it would be well for the cause of general and political science if a Brady or Buchtel could catch and preserve it for it is very probable that no avocation in life can so effectually obliterate or eliminate every lineament of the human face divine as ring rule

Gov. Grover is the undoubted choice of many good, able and honest Democrats for the United States Senate, and these form a respectable covering for the Watkinds ring Such men being sincere in their preferences are not likely to become acquainted with the nefarious schemes of Bill to accomplish their common purpose, but woe to the luckless Democrat who thinks otherwise. He better never have been born, or else kept entirely out of the manager's convention

Bill has learned something in the last two years, and notwithstanding his denial of the right of Democrats to do otherwise than to vote straight, he knows in these independent times, the value of a good ticket. Consequently the one presented, which no Democrat has a right to scratch, has some excellent names upon it The resolution passed by the Republican convention, viz that none but honest competent and sober men should be elected to office, would knock a fair sized hole in it. The ticket is not so good as the minority would have made, but the principal objection to it, without regard to political considerations, arises out of the corrupting means employed to create and control the convention which brought it about

The Republican convention could have done better with the material before it and would have done so, but for the combining faculties of two or three persons who cannot all at once, leave off bad habits The legislative part of the ticket is better than several that have been elected, but, without casting any imputation I must say the convention committed a great blunder in not tendering to Col Reed a unanimous nomination as a partial recognition of his arduous and very valuable services rendered to the county and State during the last session of the legislature It is not exaggeration to say that but few men in the State could have accomplished as much.

I am sure the convention in its sober senses did not mean it, and if the question was put to the people the verdict would be such as to gratify so sensitive a man as Col C A Reed

The Republican resolutions were right to the point, and almost long enough for a State convention The customary endorsement of the national Administration was lacking and no man had the hardihood or folly to propose it

Sensible Republicans desire to hold all alike to the motto, Let no guilty man escape," and whether Gen Grant falls or not, he can certainly claim to be author of an apothegm which will apply equally well to all of his successors

You can count 400 majority for the Republican ticket in Marion, barring a few hints to self-seekers

GIL HAVEN WILL NOT BE INTERVIEWED ABOUT GRANT

In the course of his lecture on 'Grip," in the South Eleventh street church, Bishop Gilbert Haven said there was a great difference between "grip" and "spurt" Napoleon was a 'spurter," but Grant was a "gripper and a spurter, too" Grant's underlying power was grip He never let go his hold, and was wont to 'spurt" whenever he got a chance He "spurted" through the war, the Bishop said "spurted" twice into the White House, and for all anybody but the Lord knew would "spurt" there again. At the close of the lecture the Times man ventured at an interview

But do you really think Grant will run for a third term? said the reporter.

By this time several of the more sanctimonious members of the congregation had crowded round and when it was understood that a reporter was endeavoring to 'interview the bishop one sour visaged individual said it was a outrage to ask a gentleman such questions in the house of God" Indeed sir said the reverend gentleman, 'I must not be interviewed ' But I am not going to 'interview you quoth the reporter I only want to know what you think of Grant Oh my goodness!' said the bishop, I really can t go into that subject now You are welcome to use what I said in my lecture but for goodness sake don t try to interview me I cannot be interviewed ' exclaimed the bishop reddening 'I will not be interviewed and by — But he checked himself smiled wiped the perspiration from his brow and then continued I—I won t be interviewed' —Philadelphia Times

A lot of people from Missouri stopped in Umatilla county last fall As winter was about to set in they bought a lot of hay for their cattle, about 1½ tons for each head thinking the cattle would need as much as they did in old Pike The hay cost them $3 a ton A few days ago they pulled up stakes and started back to Missouri Their cattle had wintered on the prairies and come out fat and they had to sell their hay for $2 a ton They declared they won't not stay in a country where hay was worth more in the fall than in the spring. This story, which is said to be strictly true, needs no comment

A letter from Gervais to a State exchange says The farmers in this vicinity are feeling somewhat discouraged on account of the continuous bad weather and the prospects are very good for a short crop of spring sowed grain Fall sown grain however is looking quite well and should the weather clear up soon a good crop may be expected

The money market is dull as any other branch of business will be until the merchants and capitalists and bankers find as many reasons to murmur at the depression as do dry goods jobbers grocerymen When money is lying idle in the banks vaults heaps the interest so much lost and the merchant reckons the loss on goods which remain unsold in the warehouse Although there murmurs are occasionally heard from men in all classes of business the more sanguine are still in good spirits over the prospect and patiently wait the good time coming The business doing is of a healthy nature and purchasers knowing how closely credits are scrutinized do not ask for more time than is necessary and only when they feel pretty sure of being able to pay at maturity

Our Eastern advices by mail show a very depressed condition of business generally and one exchange noting the situation of affairs in the dry goods market especially says many descriptions of dry goods are being sold at such low figures that the country buyer cannot help being tempted into buying a fair supply during the season He can restock his store at almost one third less money than last year Prices are so extremely low this season that profits are correspondingly reduced and the value of the sales in the aggregate are necessarily cut down

Atlantic Coast Trade

The following from the New York Bulletin conveys a fair idea of the movement of trade on the Atlantic coast The situation commercially is very remarkable Exports exclusive of specie on Tuesday night March 28th are $60 012 349 against $58 003,000 during the same time last year but imports from January 1st to March 28th inclusive were $79 605 756 against $89 631 700 in 1875, and $100 540 787 in 1874 The decrease in imports of wool, woolen and worsted goods, carpets and dry goods generally although in part due to the low prices at which American mills are selling, is still more due to that general economy in consumption which is so depressing to manufacturers Yet the receipts of domestic produce continue large Cotton receipts are 3 720 366 bales, against 3 161,282 to the same date last year, grain receipts at lake ports are 10,617 716 bushels against 92 826 last year and at sea ports 27 971,81 bushels, against 19,840 01 last year, Receipts of petroleum, hides, leather and tobacco show an increase The coal movement from Pennsylvania has been 2,381 ?08 tons against 2 816 851 in 187 Exports of provisions show a large increase in cheese, an increase in beef, bacon and tallow, and material loss only in lard Nor are railroad reports unfavorable Thirty four roads report earnings 1 to various dates in March aggregating $8 922 779 against $7 443,580, for the same weeks last year nine more to the end and one to the middle of February, amounting to $5 850 226 against $5 2 1 75 last year and five more for the whole and two for part of January $1 069 616 against $856 681 last year The total for thirty four roads is $15 847 623 against $13,561,142 to corresponding dates in 1875 an increase of 17 per cent These facts leave no room to doubt that the general movement, as to quantities is decidedly larger than that of last year But the bank clearings afford equally conclusive proof that there has not been an increase in business measured in values

Domestic Produce.

There is no special activity in this department so far during the week The receipts of wheat are limited, but considerable quantities of flour is coming to hand to supply the local trade the demand for shipping not being very great at this time Most of the agents of exporters in the interior have been instructed to buy cautiously if at all while some have withdrawn from the market altogether Nothing has transpired to change the tone of the market to day Aside from wheat and flour the volume of business is curtailed by the continuance of unpleasant weather preventing hauling over the country roads to any profit, or stopping it entirely Provisions are steady and demand brisk choice bacon and lard being much sought for at quotations Dairy products, eggs and poultry are selling readily at our quotations and, though the advance of the season might lead us to expect a decline the market is regarded as steady, and may continue so for some time to come The market is still almost bare of mill feed of all kinds. Oats and potatoes are weak and shippers appear to be afraid to make extensive ventures. In wool and hides there is but little being done, the demand abroad for hides being so light that shippers are compelled to reduce buying quotations to save themselves from loss on exportations The spring wool clip has not begun to reach the market yet and prices are nominal

Shipping Intelligence.
